The California pioneers residing in Washington, the men who journeyed "across the plains," "round the Horn," or "over the isthmus" in '49 and '50, are to have a meeting to night at Willard's Hotel for th purpose of making arrangements to spend day together in the near future, when they can recall the memories of the times when they were young and venturous.

THE NATIONAL REPUBLICAN OR Thursday merning said that there was no danger to the peace of Europe on account of the incarceration of Schnaebeles, as Germany did not want war, and the French rulers were not prepared for it because it might make Boulanger a dictator. On Thursday evening the dispatches from Europe announced that the difficulty between Germany and France was about settled. Dispatches yesterday appounced that it was settled; so that what the NATIONAL REPUBLICAN said on Thursday morning might be taken a prophecy, quickly realized.

A CIRCULAR baving been sent to all the posts of the Grand Army, asking each post to give information as to its views on cer tsin matters, Gen. Fairchild, the commander-in-chief, called a meeting of the executive committee of the national council on April 22, and it ordered all posts to abstain from giving opinions upon any subjects in that way, declaring that where there was a necessity for the expression of an opinion by the order it can be done through the regular channel of the national encampment. Notification of this decision has been given to all the posts through gen eral order No. 13, of April 25.

The Virginia Debt.

As the representatives of the Britisl bolders of Virginia bonds are now in that state, in consultation with the committees appointed by the senate and house of representatives, and as the representatives of the British bondholders are gentlemen of high character and intelligence, it may fairly be supposed that some agreement will be reached through which the credit of the state will be restored and the money loaned to it, not only by foreigners, but by citizens of the state and of the United States, will be secured and finally paid to them with a reasonable interest on it.

The joint commission now considering the question of the Virginia debt should take into consideration the poverty of the state and the people, and the creditors should not act the part of Shylock and demand "the pound of flesh," but agree to such reasonable propositions, if such should be made, as will secure in due time the re payment of all, or at least a greater part of, the money due by the state.

The condition of Virginia demands that for the present the rate of interest should be made low, but as there is every prospec of a better condition, of increased wealth, of a large emigration, of new mines being opened, and new industries being started so that within a few years Virginia will be as prosperous and more wealthy than ever be fore, the creditors should be satisfied to se cure a low rate of interest now-a very low rate, in fact-if by so doing they can assist the state in recovering its former prosperity and wealth, thus enabling it to pay all the

We believe that Sir Edward Thornton is man of such ability that he can readily understand the situation, and will agree upon the part of the foreign bondholders to any reasonable proposition.
We hope the committees appointed by the

Virginia general assembly are prepared to submit reasonable propositions, and that the credit of the state may be re-established through the meeting of these commissions

True.

A correspondent of the Augusta Chronicle writing from Washington, says:

A leading Louisiana congressman tells me that the south is ripe for a change, and that prosperity will break up the Demogratic party there. "The Republican party," said he, "may carry Tennessee next year. East Tennessee was largely Whig before the war. At the time of the war it furnished as many Union soldiers in proportion to its population as any part of the north. The Republicans have been rapidly gaining strength in the state, and if it were worked in the same manner as Indian and Obio are it would be Republican That is true, and so would North Caro lina, Virginia, and West Virginia be Republican under the same circumstances. Maryland would join the column, if any eystem can be devised by which the grave stones can be prevented from voting the Democratic ticket, and it may be that th action of the courts, in sending some of the subordinate election thieves of Baltimore to the penitentiary, will disfranchise the gravestones.

Not a Dead Issue.

The Augusta Chronicle, commenting on Secretary Lamar's speech at Charleston, in which he alluded to Mr. Calboun's views on free trade, said :

Free trade is a dead issue. For all practical purposes it is as dead as the institution of

The Chronicle is mistaken in this asser tion, and it is a great misfortune for the country that it is mistaken. A large majority of the Democratic party—the party of which the Chronicle is one of the able defenders-is in favor of "ultimate free

The Chronicle needs no evidence of this except the utterances of the leaders of its party-men (whom the Chronicle not only, assists to put in office, but sustains while there. The party at its national conven-tion dedged the question, but it selected men to fill the offices it hoped to bestow who were and are free traders. Some of these are politic enough to conceal their views under euphemisms, such as "revenue reform," "a tariff for revenue," but "ulti-mate free trade" is the doctrine of the Free trade will not be "a dead issue" until the white men of the south who be Heve, with the Chronicle, that American labor and capital should be protected, cease to be frightened at a phantom and unite with the party that favors these views-the Republican party.

The sooner this is understood the better for the country.
